Key findings:

- 823 PE deals were reported in Africa between 2010 - 2015, totalling US$21.6bn

Outlook

2015 was a bumper year for fundraising, with a handful of large funds achieving final closes during the year. As such, 2016 is likely to see lower fundraising totals.

Africa's positive demographic trends mean that PE investment is likely to remain targeted at consumer-driven sectors over the medium term. Other sectors that may be of particular interest include Infrastructure, Real Estate and Energy. West and East Africa should continue to remain attractive destinations for PE investment on the continent.

Notwithstanding the current uncertainty around emerging market economies, low commodity prices and depreciating local currencies, many PE investors in Africa have developed the requisite skills, experience and knowledge to continue to invest, grow and add value to portfolio companies.

Methodology

Private equity (PE) is defined as both private equity and venture capital.

Transactions cover all deals made by private equity firms across all sectors, including infrastructure. It excludes PIPE transactions where the PE firm was unlikely to have any influence on company strategy.

Transaction dates are taken to be the date on which the deal is announced, unless otherwise specified.

Transaction value includes equity, mezzanine, senior debt and significant co-investments (where available).

Sectors for transactions are based on Global Industry Classification Standard classifications.

Vintage year of fundraising is based on year of final close, where available. If a fund has achieved a final close but the year of final close is not known, year of first close is used instead.

GPs that are included have raised, or are raising, third-party PE funds from institutional investors. Qualifying funds include funds that have a sole focus on Africa or have an allocation to Africa alongside a broader emerging markets investment mandate. Funds with a global investment remit that invest in Africa are excluded.
